Fair Grounds

WILL HAVE RACE MEETING

At Evansville Last Week in September—Big Time Anticipated.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 3.—Evansville will have the greatest fair and race meeting this fall ever given in Southern Indiana. The Driving Association closed a contract with Judge C. C. Givens, of Madisonville, to manage the event. Citizens of the city have subscribed $1,000 as a guarantee fund and active preparations will begin Tuesday morning.

A meeting of the Driving Association officials was held and the contract signed with Judge Givens to take full and complete charge of the meeting. Judge Givens will begin advertising and other preliminaries Tuesday.

The event will begin on September 28 and continue four days.

Practically every business man in the city subscribed to the guarantee fund. They realize that a fair and race meeting will bring thousands of people to the city, who will spend a great deal of money in purchasing fair supplies. The amount was subscribed in three days' active canvassing.

Judge Givens is one of the most successful fair and race promoters in the Middle West. He will secure the best running and harness horses now on the turf to compete for the splendid purses to be offered.

Mrs. Ella Lovan Dead.

Mrs. Ella Lovan, wife of Wm. Lovan, of near Mortons Gap, died Thursday evening at 6 o'clock of dropsy and other complications. Mrs. Lovan had been ill for months and the end was expected. She is survived by her husband and two sons.

Since infancy she had been a member of the Baptist church and was deeply interested in church affairs. She retained her cheerfulness until her death.

News of the Mines

The same old story this week: Great demand for coal and great scarcity.

Maj. Kimmel and Geo. Newbold left Monday for Aspinwall, Tenn., to make a map of the mines and do other necessary engineering work.

W. D. Cavanaugh and his satellites reared up a smoke stack at the pump station Saturday. He reports lots of fan-tastic work, when viewed from a fan-tastic standpoint.

Foreman O'Bannon tells us that the Fox Run mine fell behind last week. Two deaths during the week and breaking No. 11 fan engine caused the falling out. Bob mines run all day, or part of each day, but full short of expectation.

South Diamond made a fine day's record for the week. Everything passed off as quietly as a "dumb supper" and Foreman Banks sat under the "cooling" shade of the pump station while the darkness had his spiritual strength renewed to face the fiery trials of another week.

Foreman Rule and family will return this week, after several weeks sojourn to the lakes, whether they will on account of Mr. Rule having "nearly" Of course some Smart Alec is ready to remark that in the eternal fitness of things "Rule" would get well "by inches" if proper "measures" were applied.

Arnold made five days and three quarters, owing to the absence of rolling stock. Welshman, son of Arnold, put in Saturday evening cleaning up the yard, owing to the long steady run, badly-needed attention. His thorough work, coupled with the fact that a load of saw dust was seen headed his way, led up to the belief that Dick was preparing to give a brand dance.

It gives us pleasure to note that our old friend, George Hill, is again up to the front. Some time ago he volunteered to assist pulling a car on the track, which had become derailed in the mines, and in so doing the lever, by which they were raising the car, slipped and struck him a violent blow in the back, knocking him down and knocking his saw away, causing him much subsequent suffering. He now enough now to leave job of that kind alone in the future.

We are glad to see Grady Smiley again at the post of duty, after an absence of several days from sickness. We suppose he is the only deaf and dumb man in the State who has the operating of machinery. He controls the elevating drums and screening of coal at Arnold's, a complicated and difficult, which is run by bells and signals, none of which he ever misses. He receives and gives orders with the greatest facility, owing, of course, to a mutual understanding he has with his fellow workmen.

A Curiosity.

Col. Albert Tombs, the well known and generally liked man of the hammer and saw, brought to this office, a curiosity in the shape of a one inch piece of plank that had been bored into by a carpenter bee. It seems that his beehive after he had made entrance in to this solid piece of wood and bored about two inches discovered in some unknown manner that he had gone the wrong direction and would soon bore out. So he turned round and doubles on his track until he cuts a smooth round groove a half inch in diameter nearly 12 inches and was still at work when Tombs tore the piece of plank from the fan at the Arnold mine. This piece of wood is on exhibition in this office and we consider it one of the greatest curiosities we have with the exception of Newman Whitford.

Frank Sweeney, a former conductor on the Henderson division is visiting friends here this week.

R. J. SALMON THE MAN

Who Will Oppose Augustus Osley Stanley in the Second Congressional District.

COUNTY CONVENTION BE CALLED.

Pursuant to a call made by Col. John W. McCulloch, chairman of the Republican executive committee of the Second Congressional District, there was a meeting held at the union depot in Henderson, shortly after the arrival of the noon, L. H. & St. L. train, on Saturday, for the purpose of selecting a time and place to nominate a candidate for congress.

There were present at the meeting J. W. McCulloch, and Dr. C. M. Heavrin, of Daviess county; Dr. W. I. Thompson, of Henderson county; James Jenkins, of Webster county; Vincent Williamson, Claude Clark and R. A. Cook, of Christian county. There was no representation from Hancock and McLean counties, and the proxy of Union county was held by R. A. Cook.

It was decided that the chairman of each county issued a call for a mass convention to be held at the courthouse on Monday, October 3, to select delegates to attend a district convention to be held at Henderson on Tuesday, October 4, 1910, at 1:30 p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for congress.

There are already three or four candidates seeking the honor, but it is generally conceded that Hon. R. J. Salmon, of Hopkins county, will receive the nomination. Mr. Salmon is a very prominent citizen of Hopkins county, and is the brother of the present representative in the legislature, who is a Democrat.

Home Paper Interesting.

The home paper is always interesting to you whether you take it or not; says an exchange. Some people who do not take the paper borrow it from their neighbors, and, while this inconvenience the neighbors and themselves, it can't help but make us feel proud that they really care enough for our paper to walk a half mile each week to get it and also save two cents. It shows that these people are economical and when our advertisers put an advertisement in our paper they will be sure to read it carefully and take in all the bargains.

THERE IS A REASON

Why it pays to advertise in the SEMI-WEEKLY BEE:
It reaches a large number of wage earners who take no other paper.
It has an almost exclusive circulation in a community where $50,000.00 in money is paid out each month.
It is read by hundreds of people who buy what they want and who have money to pay for what they buy.
The only way to get your advertisement before the people of Earlington, Morton Gap, St. Charles and immediate vicinity is through the medium of the Earlington Bee. A hint to the wise is sufficient.

GRATEFULNESS.

It isn't the thinking how grateful we are
For the kindness of friends come to bliss
Our sorrow or loss
Neath the weight of the cross—
It is telling our gratefulness.
It isn't the love that they have in their heart.
And neglect or forget to reveal.
That brightens the lives
Of husbands and wives—
It is telling the love that they feel.
It isn't the thinking of good to mankind
That comes as a cooling drink
To the famished ones
Of earth's daughters and sons—
It is telling the good that we think.
It isn't the music sleep in the strings
Of the lute that entrances the ear.
And brings to the breast
The spirit of rest—
It is only the music we hear.
It isn't the lilies we hide from the world,
Nor the roses we keep as our own.
That are sown at our feet
By the angels we meet—
On our way to the great White Throne.
It isn't the silence of hope unexpressed
That heartens and strengthens the weak
To triumph through strife
For the great thing of life—
It's the words of good cheer that we speak.

Why he Lost His Friends.

He was always wounding their feelings, making sarcastic or funny remarks at their expense.
He was cold and reserved in his manner, cranky, gloomy, pessimistic.
He was suspicious of everybody.
He never threw the doors of his heart wide open to people, or took them into his confidence.
He was always ready to receive assistance from them, but always too busy or too stingy to assist them in their time of need.
He regarded friendship as a luxury to be enjoyed, instead of an opportunity for service.
He never learned that implicit, generous trust in the very foundation-stone of friendship.
He never thought it worth while to spend time in keeping up his friendships.
He did not realize that friendship will not thrive on sentiment alone—that there must be service to nourish it.
He did not know the value of thoughtfulness in little things.
He borrowed money from them.
He was not loyal to them.
He never hesitated to sacrifice their reputation for his advantage.
He was always saying mean things about them in their absence.
He measured them by their ability to advance him.—Success.

A Good Position.

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway Telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official Institutes in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into position. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., or Philadelphia, Pa.

Kentucky State Fair Notes.

Five of the world's fastest pacers will be the "added attraction" at the Kentucky State Fair, which begins in Louisville, on Monday, Sept. 12. The Fair management was able to secure the attraction for only one day, Saturday, the closing day of the Fair. Dan Patch, with a record of 1:56; Minor Hair, 1:59 1/4; George Gano, 2:08 1/4; Hedgeood Boy, 2:08 1/4, and Lady Maid C, 2:32 1/2, are the monarchs of the turf who will be seen together on Kentucky's soil for the first time. Dan Patch and Minor Hair will be driven as a team against their rivals. It is possible the horses will also remain over Saturday night and be exhibited at the closing night horse show.

Entries have come in to the Kentucky State Fair earlier and in greater number than ever before. This is taken by the management as a positive indication that the Eighth Annual Exhibition, which is to be given in Louisville the week of September 12, will break all records from an exhibit standpoint. Every department of the Fair is already well filled with high class entries, and the number is being increased daily. The best State Fair ever held south of the Ohio river is assured.

Wednesday, September 14, will be one of the banner days of the Kentucky State Fair. A reception in honor of Kentucky statemen has been arranged for Wednesday evening, and prominent men from every section of the Commonwealth have signified their intention of being present. Although "Kentucky Day" has been scheduled for the day following, the inauguration of the day for Kentucky statemen, exclusively, is expected to mean two full days, dedicated to the citizens of Kentucky generally. Invitations have been sent out to members of the generally, the Kentucky delegation in Congress, State and county officials and others prominent in public life.

Jubie Vinson had the misfortune to have a valuable cow killed by 92 yesterday morning in front of his residence.

FIGHTING FIERCE FOREST FIRES

The Best Method and Other Information of Interest Along this line.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture are of the opinion that 1910 will hold the record among many years for the severity of the losses from forest fires. The summer fires followed a spring season believed to have been the worst, certainly in the Lake States, known for a long time. Nor is it wise to assume that the danger is over when the fierce conflagrations which have called forth in the Mountain States the effort of three Federal Departments have been conquered. The forest will not be safe until the fall rains and snow have once more made a wet blanket of the dry forest floor. That the total losses of the year will run up to many millions of dollars is considered certain.

Now such losses may be prevented is a matter of general public concern. To the National Forest timber burned must be added great amounts on State and private holdings, besides the immense damage done to towns, farm, and other property. Railroads have suffered from the interruption of traffic as well as from direct losses. A bulletin by Forester Henry S. Graves discusses forest fires and the proper methods of preventing and fighting them, as follows:

"In some sections of the country forest fires have always been of such common occurrence that there is a popular notion that they can not be prevented. The risk from fires can never be entirely eliminated, for in the forest there is always inflammable material which is very easily ignited. They may, however, be largely prevented, and under efficient organization their damage may be kept down to a very small amount. The problem is like that in cities, where fires can never be entirely eliminated, but where the risk of loss to property may be reduced almost to insignificance."

The importance of systematic provision for the early discovery of fires and for getting a properly equipped force of fire fighters quickly to the scene of an outbreak is insisted upon by Forester Graves. "A careful supervision or patrol during the dry season," he says, "is one of the most important measures in organized forest protection. One of the fundamental principles in fire protection is to detect and attack fires in their incipency." After pointing out the value of lookouts, telephone or signal communications and various methods of patrol, the Forester tells how to fight fires, as follows:

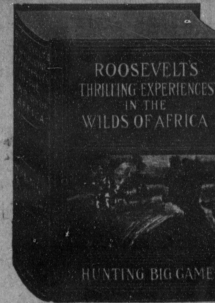

"The principles of fighting forest fires are essentially the same as those recognized in fighting fires in cities. The following are of first importance: (1) Quick arrival at the fire; (2) An adequate force; (3) proper equipment; (4) a thorough organization of the fighting crew, and (5) skill in attacking and fighting fires. Quick access to fire is accomplished through the work of supervision and patrol in discovering fires before they have gained much headway, and by a well-developed system of communication through the forest by roads and trails.

"A small fire may be put out by one man, but in extensive forests several hours may pass before the fire can be reached. It is important to secure an adequate force of men and to get them to the fire quickly. In a well-organized system of patrol the guard who discovers the fire communicates quickly to other guards and to headquarters by telephone, signal, or other means, and indicates the number of men he needs.

The Semi-Weekly Bee one year and the Book for $1.50; price of book alone

The Editor.

The fearless editor may offend and lose a subscriber, but if he is right in the end he will gain five. He may lose an advertiser, but if he is right he will gain two thereby. If he labors not to displease anyone, he will please no one. If he tries to ride all the horses in the field, he will be unhorsed by each of them. The editor should follow his honest, well considered convictions, and the man he should labor to please is himself. If he does this with ability and without fear or favor he will have a great following and better support, though he be wrong half the time, than he who trims his sail to every change of the breeze, and without chart or compass, principles or purpose, drifts aimlessly with every shifting tide.—Ez.

"Some's" Too Hard.

A Kentucky teacher in one of the border counties in a town near the Tennessee line, has received the following from the parent of one of his pupils:

Sir—Will you in the future given my son easier somes to do at nite. This is what he's brought home for two or three nites back: "If fore galluns of bere will fill thirty to pint bottals, how many pints and half bottals will nine galluns of bere fill?"

Well, we tride and could make nothin' out of it at all, and my boy laffed and cried and raired and charged, and sed he didn't dare go bak in the mornin' without doin't it. So I had to go and by a nine gallun cak of bere, which I could ill afford to do, an' then he went borroed a lot of wine and brandy bottals. We filled them an' my boy counted them and put the number down for a anser, but I don't know whether it is rite or not, as we split some while we was doin't it.

P. S.—Please let the next some be in water, as I ain't got no job in a government revenue shop, and I kain't afford to by enny moar bere to do somes with as it gets to flat while we're measurin' it out.

The Boy Question.

The worst habit that boys can fall into is that of loafing around on the streets at night. It is then they cast their lot in slippery places when at any moment they are likely to fall from grace. All good and noble lessons taught them by their mothers are nullified. They learn nothing that is good, but everything bad. The boys who spend their evenings in the sacred precincts of home with good books for their companions, are the future hope of this republic. They will fill our legislative and congressional halls, and sit in judgment upon men and measures, while the boys who run the streets will fill our penitentiaries, almshouses and lunatic asylums. Parents who are responsible for these broken laws of decency will have broken hearts and bowed down heads in the awakening years that will inevitably follow.

Teachers Wanted.

The demand for teachers who have been trained in the West is Normal is greater than the supply. The fall session opens September 6th. Write President H. H. Cherry, President, Bowling Green, Ky.

School Secures Good Man.

In the removal to Earl-broke has lost one of its most valuable citizens. Aside from being one of the best school men in the Stat, Prof. Dudley is an enterprising citizen, always striving for the betterment of the town and community in which he lives, and always on moral side of every public question. The city of Earlington is to be congratulated upon this valuable acquisition to its citizenship.—Pembroke Journal.

Share of Women.
It has been long asserted that women is less variable than man;
but the certainty of that statement has lately lost its edge. It is probably untrue. There is no real reason to suppose that woman is less complex or less variable than man. She has the same title as he has to these conditions in which her particular characters, whatever they be,
shall find their most complete and fruitful development. There is no more a single ideal type of man. It takes all sorts even to make a sex. It has been in, the past an always must be, a piece of gross presumption on man's part to aspi to woman. "Thus shalt thou be," and no other." Whom Nature has made different, man has no business to make or even to desire similar. The world wants all the power of all the individuals of either sex.

On the other hand, no good can come of the attempt to distort the development of those powers or to seek conformity to any type. Much of the evil of the past has arisen from the limitation of women to practically one profession. Even should it be incomparable the best, in general, it is by no means necessarily the best, or even good at all, for every individual.
Men are to be heard saying: "A woman ought to be a wife and mother." For most women, this is the sphere in which their characteristic potencies will find best and most useful expression, both for self and others; but that is very different from saying that every woman ought to be a mother; or that no woman ought to be a surgeon. We may prefer the material to the surgical type;
and there may be good reason for our preference; but the surgeon may be very useful, and useful or not, the question is not one of ought. Thoughtful people should know better than to make this constant confusion between what ought to be and what is.

Let u hold to our ideals, let us by all means have our scale of values; but the first question in such a case as this is as to what is. In point of fact all women are not of the same type; and our expression of what ought to be is none other than the manifestation of a century upon Nature for her deeds. We may know better than she or as has happened, we may know worse.—Dr. C. W.
Saleeby in the Forum.

were plentiful and every one present enjoyed every minute of the time they were present.
This is one of the strongest lodges in the city and its membership is composed of the best material.
